What this shows

- Audience Network has gone from a rounding error to a third of clicks.
Its share sat near 2 to 4% through summer 2025 and stepped up sharply at the start of 2026, holding around 28 to 36% since.
- This warrants a quality check, not just a volume read.
Audience Network clicks are typically cheaper but lower intent (in-app taps across third-party properties). A rising share can inflate click counts while pulling down lead quality.
- Question for the next optimization pass:
Is Audience Network earning its share of spend? Worth comparing cost per click and, more importantly, cost per validated registration for Audience Network versus Facebook and Instagram before deciding whether to limit or exclude the placement.
- Note on October 2025.
The connector returned no click rows for that month, so it appears as a gap rather than a zero.
